THE STANDARD THAT WAS NOT MET

Loyalty — We value trust, commitment, and dedication in our relationships with our team, customers, and company. We work to create security, solidarity, and lasting connections.

Each item above is listed on the Performance Points sheet posted in the break room.

WHY THIS MATTERS

EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK

7.1 Attendance & Punctuality

Employees are expected to be in the workplace, ready to work, at their scheduled start time and to complete their entire shift. Time off must be requested in writing, in advance, and anyone unexpectedly unable to report must notify their supervisor directly and as early as possible. A voicemail, text or email is not acceptable except in an extreme emergency.

Moving work only holds together while people, trucks, equipment, arrival windows and the jobs behind them all stay coordinated. One person's decision carries down the rest of the day.

No call no show (tardy log) No call no show creates one of the greatest scheduling disruptions, because management cannot plan around an absence they do not know about. Dispatch waits, tries to make contact, then has to reorganise crews on the spot. The uncertainty affects coworkers, customers, labour cost and management time all at once.
Customer complaint — specifically names you When a customer names an individual, their concern was tied directly to that person's conduct or performance. A complaint takes management time to investigate and resolve, and can end in discounts, refunds, lost referrals, negative reviews or a claim.
61+ mins late At this point management may have to restructure the day entirely. Trucks, crews and customers are scheduled around expected staffing, so an extended absence affects numerous employees and customers rather than only the person who is late.
Same day call off A same-day absence leaves almost no opportunity to replace you. Crews go out understaffed, jobs take longer, coworkers are asked to work harder or later, and customers wait. It can also mean overtime, or pulling someone off another assignment.

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS

Counted from the points log. These are figures the system can evidence; nothing here is an estimate.

- 2 late arrivals.
- 3 shifts missed, 1 of them without any notice at all.
- 3 incidents that reached a customer as a complaint or a claim.

WHAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED ON THE DAY

To be completed by the supervisor. Record only what is known: who was affected, how long was lost, what the customer was told.

PREVIOUS DISCUSSIONS OR WARNINGS ON THIS SUBJECT

Written warning issued 19 September 2026 after reaching 15 points. Verbal 2 September about calling off without notice.

WHAT MUST CHANGE

Return from suspension able to be relied on: at the shop on time, every shift, and a phone call to Matthew before the start of any shift you cannot make. Nothing about a customer job is to reach Andrew before it reaches Matthew.

Failure to show immediate and sustained improvement will result in further disciplinary action up to and including termination. Nothing in this notice creates any guarantee of employment for a specific period of time or in any way modifies your at-will employment relationship.
